

Media power is already concentrated in too few places. This measure, kept secret from the public for good reason, only serves to make matters worse. We need real news media, not a bunch of stenographers for the White House!